

THE PRINTS

The Mission Issue 49 Cover Print by Simon Berndt
themissionflymag.com

You Got Beaten By A Crab
by David Shrigley
shrigshop.com

Would You Love Me
If I Was A Fish? by Not Anderson
notanderson.com

THE FIREPIT - VELOCE

Ban Tik-Tok! Tell LinkedIn to keep office hours! Send Instagram, Vleisbroek and X back to their oligarch owners! "Why?" you ask? Dear reader, you know it and we know it, nothing beats proper bush TV for deep chats about fishing, human connection and switching off our digital lizard brains. Problem is, if you do not live in the bush, building a proper firepit is a bit of a commitment. That's where Veloce step up with their outdoor built-for-life steel firepit. With a 75cm diameter by 30 cm height from the ground to the top, and 3mm-thick steel at the top, 4mm for the base, and 3mm for the foot, this thing is sturdy as hell. Large enough for a solid crowd yet compact enough for a smaller yard, it's the perfect size. And, considering it is acid-washed and then coated with heat-resistant paint, it will likely be passed onto your kids. That's why it comes with a three-year warranty. Braai on it? Sure. Stare deep into the embers and commune with the ancestors? You know it.

velocefire.com

